Joseph Galloway

(173110 August 1803) was an American politician. Galloway became a Loyalist during the American Revolutionary War, after serving as delegate to the Second Continental Congress from Pennsylvania. For much of his career in Pennsylvanian politics he was a close ally of Benjamin Franklin, and he became a leading figure in the colony.

ADDRESS:
Philadelphia