Yellow Seeds newspaper, 1972 [Vol. 1, No. 1]

PERMANENT ID:
7749

DATE:
April 1972

IMAGE DESCRIPTION:
Yellow Seeds was an organization founded on the edge of Philadelphia's Chinatown which offered public services in regards to translation, housing, the elderly, the military draft, immigration rights, and other issues facing the Asian-American community. They began publishing a quarterly bilingual [English-Chinese] newspaper of the same name in 1972. They were mostly concerned with the destructiveness of urban renewal to Philadelphia's Chinatown, Chinese worker's rights, and uniting all working-class people of color across Philadelphia.

This digital record contains images that depict the entire edition.

ADDRESS:
Philadelphia

FORMAT:
Printed Matter